I love local produce and believe that the best ingredients come from the natural larder of Scotland's land and sea. In order to enhance the natural flavours, I have introduced some unexpected and carefully considered combinations, using as much local and seasonal produce as possible. By sourcing the very best ingredients, using our 'farm-to-fork' ethos, as well as taking inspiration from exotic and exciting dishes and flavours from around the world. Concentrating on depth of flavour, we hope to create a sensational journey for your palate, resulting in something completely unique.
