IN THE HEART OF PARIS'S GRANDS BOULEVARDS

Since 1850, this stately building has existed as a hotel in the heart of the Grands Boulevards district, which used to mark the boundary between central Paris and the faubourgs. Even then, the neighborhood was associated with entertainment, amusement and leisurely strolls and it has preserved its vibrant and lively urban identity with its many theaters, cabarets, concert halls, brasseries and passageways for which Paris is so loved. Now you can enjoy the district's effervescence and retire to tranquility at the all-new Hôtel l'Échiquier on the calm residential street of the same name.

BLENDING ART NOUVEAU AND A MODERN SPIRIT

In this archetypal Parisian building, decorator Yann Le Coadic and interior architect Alessandro Scotto have paid homage to the Art Deco movement, while preserving the hotel's Belle Époque heritage, as can be seen in the elevator and stained glass of the marble stairway. Guests are enveloped in a lush and intimate atmosphere, quintessential of 1930's Parisian apartments. Each room is a poetic alcove, adorned with a contemporary chandelier, ceiling moldings, faceted mirror corner unit inspired by the drawings of Mallet-Stevens and a travel desk fashioned as a workspace - elegant decor that marries Art Nouveau and a modern spirit with originality.

The Lounge Bar

IN THE BAR LOUNGE, TIMELESS SERENITY

The central feature of the hotel is an impressive glass roof identical to those of the passageways of the district. The stunning space beneath it houses a magnificent central bar, in mosaic, revealing a host of attractive features and unexpected surprises: dancing lights on the mirrors, decorative friezes, inviting alcoves... The playful blending of antique and contemporary furnishings, several of which are in rattan, pays homage to the winter gardens of the early 1900s.

This space, of over 200m², can be fully privatized on request. It is ideal for a corporate event in a relaxed and unique atmosphere.

The 38 Lounge Bar can accommodate up to 200 people for cocktails and 80 people for a seated meal.

ENTER YOUR PARISIAN APARTMENT

The rooms are cocoons of comfort with generous volumes. The designers were keen to defend, in the 88 rooms of the hotel, a notion of authenticity, to recreate the unique atmosphere of a Parisian apartment of the 30s. The hotel offers six room categories, from classical to suite, equipped with a private bath, Clarins products, slippers and bathrobes, satellite TV, free Wi-Fi access throughout the hotel, a complimentary mini bar as well as an access to the fitness room. Finally, the hotel also offers concierge and porter services.

Take advantage of the calm street of the hotel, close to the Grands Boulevards and the railway stations Gare de l'Est and Gare du Nord, to organize your residential seminars

MEETINGS AND EVENTS

The hotel offers 6 conference rooms, including 4 in broad daylight, perfectly adapted to your business breakfasts, staff meetings, business seminars, debates, team building workshops, and any type of events that you wish to organize.

Our conference rooms are fully equipped with audiovisual material (screen, LCD Projector or TV, sound system, WIFI, click share connection, telephone), and offer a permanent coffee break space (mini bar, Illy coffee machine, storage and dressing room), air conditioning, blackout curtains and a Paperboard.

Alicia Foucher, our seminar and banquets sales coordinator, will be your unique interlocutor throughout your event, from the quotation request to the billing.
